Directions

From the mountain station of the Kristbergbahn, the stroller-friendly path leads left on a gravel path past fountains and springs to the Wildried viewpoint. Beautiful views of the valley open up again and again. The Wildried is the highest raised bog in Europe. At the Burtschabach, the path leads right downstream through the Wasserstubental to the mountain inn Hasahüsli. There is always the option to shorten the gravel path via the "Waldwegle". After the mountain inn Hasahüsli, you reach the inn Fellimännle. From Fellimännle downstream, the gravel path changes to hiking trails, past the Teufelsbach Waterfall to Silbertal centre.

Equipment

Sturdy footwear and possibly a backpack with sun or rain protection and a small snack

Destination

Silbertal town centre
