Tour description

The Hubertus Trail is the easiest of the three flowtrails and has a length of 4,138 meters

Do you prefer to be out biking in the mountains, preferably with the whole family? Then the new flowtrails at Hochjoch above Schruns are just right for you! With the large gondola, you and your bike can comfortably reach the Kapellrestaurant, where the flowtrails start at various difficulty levels. The Hubertus Trail is the easiest of the three trails. There is also the medium-difficulty Kilka Wald Trail and the medium-difficulty Wolfsgruaba Trail.

Directions

From the Kapellrestaurant, the trails lead through the forest to the Kropfen middle station. The three different lines – over 500 meters of elevation and almost seven kilometers in total, from easy to medium difficulty – guarantee fun for the whole family!

Equipment

Wearing a helmet is mandatory at all times. The use of full-face helmets and additional protective gear such as upper body protectors, knee and elbow pads, as well as gloves, is recommended

Make sure to stay on the marked paths

Tips

You can reach the entrance to the flowtrails with the Hochjoch Bahn, from Schruns.

Choose from different tickets: for a single run, for the whole day, or – if you have a multi-day, season, or annual pass – only the bike transport.

Please note that bike transport is only possible with the Hochjoch Bahn.
